7)Plastic Removal Campaign

In order to create awareness regarding environmental pollution of which disposal of solid waste material is one of the major issues. For this we decided to explain hazards of excessive use of polythene bags and packing materials which causes toxic effects on food materials and blocks our drainage system, particularly during rainy season. Large scale uses of polythene glasses and plates in marriages and parties have created havoc for animals and birds.

Students from B.Sc. II (MEB) and M.Sc. II along with Dr. S. A. Wadhwal were taken to various commercial establishments in Amravati city. They were enlightened about environmental protection by avoiding the use of polythene products. An application regarding prohibition of use of polythene products was submitted to Mr. Narendra Wankhade, Deputy Commissioner, Municipal Corporation Amravati on 23/03/2017 at 12.30 pm. He assured to take necessary steps in this regards.

b) Liquid waste management (SAW)

1) Non Hazardous Liquid waste is drained to soak pits

Laboratory liquid waste management system through percolation system: -

Two Soak Pits for groundwater recharge are constructed for non-hazardous liquid waste generated from labs. Chemistry laboratory have separate basin marked with hazardous chemical waste. In this liquid waste can be defined as waste water of practical without chemical. This is the liquid used for washing purpose other than reaction. As this liquid is not hazardous to environment so it can be percolate in the soil so as to avoid stagnant water and to facilitate ground water recharge. The hazardous liquid containing chemicals get transfer to Laboratory Hazardous Chemical waste disposal unit. This waste liquid of both laboratories is percolate in to the soil through different water percolation system. This percolation pit is also like rain water harvesting system The pit is filled with gravel/pebbles followed by river sand for better percolation.

d) E-waste management

E- waste management by the Department of Physics Components and other small devices/parts of non-repairable equipment's are used to fabricate new experimental kits / power supplies. This is one of the best practices of the Physics department.

SHRI SHIVAJI EDUCATION SOCIET, AMRAVATI'S
SHRI SHIVAJI SCIENCE COLLEGE, AMRAVATI

Department of Physics

Waste management Steps Include

- A minimal e-waste generation is ensured by periodic maintenance of computers, electrical and electronic equipment.
- Troubleshooting in equipment's and experimental kits is done by faculty and laboratory staff.
- Minor repairs are done by the students under the guidance of faculty.
- Components and other small devices/parts of non-repairable equipment's are used to fabricate new experimental kits / power supplies. This is one of the best practices of the Physics department

The department of Physics have contributed a bit to counter this issue in the last few years.

The department has started reusing the electronic components from the discarded instruments, PCs, UPS, etc. such as transformers, transistors, ICs, Capacitors, Inductors, Resistors, Connectors, Sockets, Switches, Wires, LEDs and other electronic or electrical devices to fabricate the instruments and experimental kits that are used in the Physics Laboratory.

The students and faculty have also involved in the maintenance and repairs of the instruments and experimental kits, which led to increase their life and the optimum uses. This have not only become a step towards the E-waste management but also cultivated innovative ideas among the students and the faculty. The students have also gained many skills through these activities.

The highlighting outcome of this activity has seen during the COVID-19 Pandemic. The students in consultation with teachers have fabricated UV sterilizing chamber and automatic liquid sanitizer dispenser machine through house hold e-waste and it is then distributed to needy people.

The students of UG and PG have fabricated about 25 percent of the instruments/ experimental kits in their laboratory with the consultation of teachers
